Overview

WHEN WINNING MATTERS

Nobody wants to litigate, but sometimes it is necessary. Situations arise when you have no choice but to sue to protect your interests or defend a lawsuit. Businesses and individuals turn to us to represent them in litigation involving contracts, corporate law, banking, business torts, employment, professional liability, premises liability, personal injury, and bankruptcy disputes. We have been winning both commercial and non-commercial trials for more than 30 years.

REAL-WORLD EXPERIENCE

With significant courtroom experience, we litigate in state and federal courts in various jurisdictions on a daily basis — all of our litigators have significant trial and appellate experience. We are also adept at time- and money-saving settlement negotiations, carefully assessing the positions of all parties involved, and only settling when it is in your best interest. We always practice with the goal of maximizing efficiency to keep costs down.
